Prime Franchise Candidates

- The owner of MTSolutions LLC should be a people-person with a background in accounting, consulting, insurance, banking, or other professional services.
- MTSolutions LLC operators won't need a large staff, but attracting and retaining a few key members of their team and maintaining client relationships will require strong management skills.
- It's important that franchisees have the customers as their number one priority. The quality of the service is ultimately what will determine the success of MTSolutions LLC locations.
- MTSolutions LLC franchisees should have approximately $31,600 in investment capital to account for startup costs and the initial franchise fee.

Adding Up All We Offer

We provide ongoing training and support in many areas including operations, maintenance, customer service, supply ordering, pricing guidelines, and administrative procedures. We create preferred relationships with tax software companies and third-party website support.

MTSolutions LLC coordinates the development of advertising materials and strategies for the franchise network. We also supply franchisees with consumer marketing plans and materials for use at the local or regional level.

Franchisees are given parameters for what to look for in a location and we will approve suggested sites. We assist in lease negotiations and management of the build-out process.

We often negotiate quantity discounts on business supplies and software to pass on savings to our franchisees. We also provide support and guidance on how to manage the books.

Our leadership team will continue to research methods to enhance profitability. As the tax code can change at any time, we always work to ensure the continuity of the business through ongoing training and support.

Let's Look At The Numbers

The average initial investment for an MTSolutions LLC franchise is around $31,600 to account for working capital, start-up costs, marketing dollars, inventory, and the franchise fee.

Franchise Fee: $20,000
